1. Signed receipts uncovered by the Sao Paulo Political Police during a recent routine criminal investigation have shown contributions to the Sao Paulo Municipal Committee of the Communist Party by an organization of Russians. From an examination of the headings and seals used on the receipts it appears that the Sociedade Estrela Vermelha (Red Star Society), which contributed the money, is an organization of Ukrainians in Sao Paulo, operating in conjunction with the Comite Democratico de Ajuda as Victimas da Guerra da URSS (Democratic Committee for Aid to Soviet War Victims).
2. The Red Star Society has not been legally registered, and up until the receipts were uncovered its existence was unknown to the Sao Paulo Political Police. Although a subsource believes that the headquarters of the Democratic Committee for Aid to Soviet War Victims is located in London, this has not been confirmed, nor can any traces be uncovered of the remittance of money collected in Sao Paulo to London.
